For 72 Years A Dependable Salem Institution

Signs One-Year Appropriation Act

DiSalle Vetoes 2nd Year Fund Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dissatisfied with the Republican legislature's appropriations for mental patients and welfare recipients, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has vetoed all appropriations for the second year of the fiscal biennium.

But, the question was quickly raised by Republican House Speaker Roger Cloud: Can the governor legally make this unprecedented move?

Neither Cloud nor Senate Republican Leader C. Stanley Mechum of Athens County appeared unduly disturbed by the governor's veto action. They seemed to agree that the legislature will recess when it finishes its work late this month and return to session early next year to take another look at the state's finances.

In the meantime, because the governor signed a one-year appropriation act at 2:04 p.m., est. Sunday, checks are now on their way to some 22,500 aid for aged recipients whose money had been held up as much as nine days.

The governor's signature means that all state programs will go forward, as usual, for at least a year until the money so far appropriated by the legislature runs out on June 30, 1962. It may be that the state controlling board will be asked to advance money to keep the programs running late in the fiscal year, but that's a matter for the future.

Cloud's question on the legality of DiSalle's move vetoing the appropriation for the entire second year of the fiscal biennium centered on the issue of whether the second year constitutes a "severable" item of the budget. Cloud says it isn't, but DiSalle says it is.

But, rather than argue about it, DiSalle personally vetoed and signed 194 individual items in the budget — about a half dozen of them for the fiscal year which started July 1 and the rest of the year which starts July 1, 1962.

After doing his shopping on the Republican budget measure, DiSalle signed what was left of the bill which calls for the expenditure of $1,007,522,343 in the next fiscal year. He vetoed, pending further legislative study, appropriations totaling $1,023,304,023.

DiSalle's unusual move of vetoing an entire year's appropriation obviously was designed to dramatize his feeling that the Republican legislature short-changed welfare recipients in the budget bill.

2 Mishaps Probed; One Driver Injured

A Rogers youth escaped injury at 9:45 p.m. Sunday when his car left Rt. 7 and overturned about a mile north of Rogers.

Thurl L. Low, 17, of Rogers was traveling north on Rt. 7 when he came up behind a string of traffic. To avoid crashing into the rear car, he drove off the right side of the highway, the State Highway Patrol reported. He was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

Joseph J. Sutak, 42, of Youngstown was treated for abrasions and contusions of the left arm and cheek and then released from East Liverpool City Hospital after a one-car accident on Rt. 7, about six miles south of Rogers, at 9:20 p.m. Saturday.

The Patrol said Sutak lost control of his car, went off the road and struck an embankment. His 1961 model car was damaged extensively. Sutak was cited for driving left of center.

Snag Nose Cone Over Pacific

Airmen Want More Tough Assignments

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii (AP) — Air Force fliers who plucked another Discoverer nose cone from the sky on its return from space hoped today that the next aerial recovery "gives us something that wiggles."

Airmen at this mid-Pacific base said they were confident they could retrieve any capsule that could be brought back into the earth's atmosphere. "But next time," said one, "please, let's have something alive in there. These instruments are getting routine."

Discoverer XXVI's instrument-jammed nose cone was snagged in the air by a C119 recovery plane Sunday as the space packet parachuted 270 miles northwest of Hawaii. The twin-engine plane, one of eight circling over the impact area, made the catch on its first pass with its trailing trapeze-like hooks. The recovery came just 29 minutes after the capsule was kicked loose from space over Kodiak, Alaska.

It was the fourth aerial grab of a Discoverer cone. Two others were fished from the sea. The gold-plated capsule, sealed in a gray canister, was flown to Sunnyvale, Calif., Sunday night for examination by space scientists. It had circled the globe 32 times on a polar orbit since its launching Friday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Contents of the capsule were not disclosed but an Air Force spokesman said nothing aboard was alive.

Greeting the pilot, Capt. Jack R. Wilson, 37, of Toledo, Ohio, were the two other pilots to effect aerial recoveries. Capt. Harold Mitchell of Bloomington, Ill., who made the first catch 11 months ago, and Capt. Gene Jones of Dayton, Wash., who snagged two capsules, presented cigars to the beaming Wilson.

Wilson said the nose cone "looked like it was twinkling, like it had a battery of lights on it" as it floated down through a layer of clouds. "We first spotted it about 20,000 feet above us," he said.

The nose cone spent 50 hours and 36 minutes in space attached to the 25-foot-long second stage of the Discoverer rocket. The release was triggered at Sunnyvale, the Air Force disclosed.

Military Purge Strengthens Pak's Position

S. Korean Leader Accuses Ex-Premier Of Murder Plot

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A wholesale housecleaning of rival officers appeared today to have strengthened considerably the position of South Korea's military ruler, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi.

Pak climaxed his purge Sunday by accusing Lt. Gen. Chang Do-Young, ousted a week ago as premier and head of the ruling junta, and 44 other officers of plotting to assassinate him in an effort to seize control of the government.

Pak, moving spirit of the May 16 coup, forced Chang out last Monday, supplanted him as chairman of the junta, and named Defense Minister Song Yo-chan premier. Informed sources contended, however, that Pak's position as No. 1 man in the government still is not as strong as he would like.

The ruling inner circle, called the Supreme Council for National Reconstruction, now consists of 21 army men, 11 of the colonels and lieutenant colonels, 3 marine generals and a marine colonel, a vice admiral and an air force brigadier general. These men represent different backgrounds, especially in their military ties, and there is evidence they have different ideas on how to restore their nation.

Treason charges that could carry the death penalty were leveled against Chang and the other officers at a news conference called Sunday by the junta. An intelligence officer said Chang and the 44 others were caught scheming to assassinate Pak and "other persons in the central force of the revolution."

The officer said the accused, including five former junta members, were picked up last Monday after failing in one attempt to stage a counter-coup and while planning another.

Chang, who was formerly army chief of staff, was accused of being a reluctant joiner of the May

Toll Rises To 49 In Formosan Crash

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The toll from a train-bus collision in Southern Formosa rose today to 49 dead.

Twenty-seven persons were still on the critical list. Blood transfusions were being administered to all of them.

The disaster Sunday, worst of its kind in Formosa's history, occurred when an express train rammed into a bus near Chiayi. The bus was split in two and the wreckage toppled into a canal.

Both the bus driver and the conductor, a girl, were among those killed. Police said they failed to heed a regulation requiring the driver to stop the bus before the crossing while the conductor walked across to signal whether a train was coming.

SOVIETS DISPLAY NEW JET BOMBER — A delta wing jet bomber, said to have several times the speed of sound, zooms through the air at a big air show in Moscow. A jet fighter plane escorts the big plane which has four jet engines, two on wingtips and two inboard below the wings. Observers said the bomber looked bigger than the U.S. B52, which has eight engines.

Couple Hurt When Auto Rams Wall

George Ehrhart, 36, and his wife, Evelyn, 39, of 476 W. 5th St., are listed in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with injuries received in a one-car accident at 2:46 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of S. Howard Ave. and Wilson St.

George Ehrhart suffered lacerations of the right cheek and scalp and possible head injuries. His wife received a laceration of the forehead and possible internal injuries.

Ehrhart told police that he was driving the car which jumped the curb and crashed into a retaining wall in front of 280 S. Howard Ave., the residence of Mrs. Mary Moga. Ehrhart said another car, headed south, forced him off the right side of the street, causing him to hit the curb and wall.

Police said the car left 150 feet of skid marks to the point where it hit the curb and another 33 feet of skid marks to where it struck the retaining wall.

A picket fence, two curb lawns, a stretch of sidewalk and some steps were also damaged, police said.

Ehrhart was cited for reckless operation.

Robert E. Slasor, 35, of 945 Ohio Ave., Sebring, suffered a whip-lash injury in a three-vehicle accident on E. State St. near Lundy Ave. at 10:25 this morning. Slasor was driving a car which was struck behind by another auto operated by Russell E. Albright, 21, of 413 S. Broadway. The impact knocked the Slasor vehicle into the rear of a pickup truck driven by Donald Lee Geho, 27, of 908 Liberty St. Geho and Slasor were both stopped in a line of traffic, police said.

Albright was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance and was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean Cranmer.

No one was injured when cars operated by Rudy W. Dunn, 49, of RD 2, Salem, and Harold D. Brown, 24, of Marilyn Ave., collided at 7:43 p.m. Saturday on S. Ellsworth Ave. at Pershing St.

Police said Dunn passed another vehicle on the right side and struck Brown's auto which was attempting to turn left onto E. Pershing. Dunn was traveling north on S. Ellsworth while Brown was headed south.

Portuguese Transport Hits Sandbar

Report 250 Dead In Ship Explosion

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Unofficial reports of the death toll aboard the Portuguese ship Save ranged today from 26 to nearly 250.

The 2,037 ton transport was swept onto a sandbar off northern Mozambique in a storm Saturday. A series of explosions and fire left it a burned out wreck off an isolated beach near the Linde River estuary. The ship had more than 550 troops and laborers aboard, most of them Africans.

A telephone report from Lourenco Marques to the owners of the ship in Lisbon said at least 230 Africans and 20 Europeans were known to have died aboard the ship. A company spokesman said the final toll probably would be higher.

The local newspaper, Noticias, said the known dead totaled 26, including 5 whites, but that many passengers were not accounted for. Newsmen in the port of Beira, south of the wreck scene, estimated at least 30 whites died. Other unofficial—and probably exaggerated—estimates placed the death toll at nearly 250.

It was thought many of the missing swam safely ashore but landed at various points and would be hard to round up.

The Portuguese army still had not issued an announcement giving any official information.

Helicopters were ferrying the injured and other survivors to Beira and Lourenco Marques. Light aircraft were trying to land on the beach at low tide, and small boats were searching the area for survivors.

Rescue parties also were making their way overland to the isolated area.

The Save, named for a river in Mozambique, had sailed from Lou-

Search Fails To Turn Up Trace Of Missing Woman

LEETONIA — The all-out search for the elderly woman who disappeared from the Cupola Nursing Home Friday, has been called off by Police Chief Allen Gibson.

A mysterious telephone call may be linked with the disappearance of Mrs. Hattie Snyder, 89, according to officials at the home.

Mrs. Herbert Arfman, owner of the rest home, reports Mrs. Snyder's absence was noted at 8:30 p.m. When bloodhounds were pressed into use, the woman's scent was traced to the edge of the lawn at the nursing home, thus indicating she may have been picked up in an automobile, Mrs. Arfman reports. Home officials report Mrs. Snyder received a phone call from a man Wednesday evening, which may have something to do with her disappearance.

Local and area police and firemen have scanned the Leetonia and Washingtonville areas on foot, in jeeps, on horseback and with the aid of an airplane, but there was not trace of the woman.

Mrs. Snyder, who is 4 foot 8 inches and weighs 90 pounds, had attempted to leave the home several times that day, Mrs. Arfman said. She has resided at the home two months, having lived on a farm in the New Waterford area prior to that time.

Display Hints Tightening Of Berlin Demands

Several Aircraft Indicate Russia's Superior Airpower

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union showed off its air might Sunday in a dazzling display that struck Western diplomats as a gesture designed to strengthen Kremlin demands on Berlin.

Premier Khrushchev and Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin watched side by side along with a crowd of 50,000 while the Soviet air force paraded a spectacular array of new craft at Moscow's Tushino Airfield.

Western experts watching the show — first the Soviets have staged since 1958—said the United States has nothing to match several of the entries, including a jet fighter that can light up a liquid rocket engine booster in flight to gain a tremendous rate of climb.

The most spectacular attraction shown publicly for the first time was a delta wing bomber the announcer said had a speed several times that of sound. The plane looked bigger than the eight-engine U.S. B52 and had four jets, two on the wing tips and two inboard below the wings.

Western air attaches showed keen interest in a flypast of 10 heavy supersonic bombers which also made their first public appearance. This new model's two engines were mounted on the rear atop the long, slender fuselage. It had high swept wings and was comparable in size to the U.S. B58, whose publicly admitted speed is 1,500 miles per hour.

"A very impressive show," said the U.S. air attaché, Col. Melvin Neilsen. "It's evident the Russians have continued with the development of all classes of aircraft."

Western observers said the show made clear the Soviets are not pinning all their faith on long-range missiles alone.

The fighters carried air-to-air rockets instead of conventional cannon. The new bombers were armed with air-to-surface missiles instead of bombs.

The Soviets gave advance billing to a vertical takeoff plane that does not depend on a jet thrust to get it aloft. Called a "screw wing plane" it was a cross between a plane and a helicopter.

Two engines were mounted at the end of each wing, and it had two rotors atop each wing making it highly maneuverable and able to carry either troops or freight.

Another new model was a three-tail jet-powered helicopter that landed and unloaded a cargo of rockets.

One novelty was a giant helicopter capable of hauling 180 men. It appeared carrying a wooden house under its belly and landed it on the field. The house was about the size of a large car trailer in the United States.

The Soviets spiced up their show with a flypast of 15 helicopters each carrying a trapeze on which sat a pretty girl each.

City Council May Act On Overpass

When City Council meets in special session at 6 p.m. Tuesday it is expected to pass an ordinance committing the city to participate with the state in the proposed overpass for the W. State St. grade crossing.

The ordinance would commit the city to pay five per cent of the total cost of right of way, property damage and construction, plus 100 per cent for rearrangement of all municipally owned utilities disturbed by the project.

The engineers' estimated cost of the total project is $1,300,000. If this figure holds up, Salem's five per cent share would amount to $65,000.

This includes the $45,000 the city will attempt to get from the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to pay the engineering planning and sub-surface testing at the project site.

Council cleared the way for the passage of the state consent ordinance when it reached a verbal agreement at a "committee of the whole" meeting last Friday. At that time it was decided the city's share of the overpass project would be financed by renewing the city income tax which now is scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

Pet Show, Parade For Playground Children Planned

A special event Wednesday for the Summer Playground program will be the Pet Parade and Show, with a bicycle and tricycle decoration contest to be included.

Salem Senior Citizens will serve as judges.

The parade will form in the alley just east of the Memorial Building and leave this point at 1:30 p.m., going to the Centennial Park basketball court, where the judging will be held.

There will be a division for pets shown by boys and pets shown by girls in the following categories: largest pet, smallest pet, best-costumed pet, best float with pet, cutest cat, most unusual pet, best-groomed horse or pony, dogs by judges choice.

A boys division and girls division for the best-decorated bicycle and tricycle also will be judged.

JFK Ends Resort Weekend; Awaits Pakistan President

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —President Kennedy, who mixed work with rest and relaxation during his second straight weekend on Cape Cod, flies back to Washington today to face a busy schedule.

On his return to the White House he confers with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other State Department officials on the state visit of Mohammed Ayub Khan, president of Pakistan, who arrives in Washington Tuesday. Then at noon, Kennedy meets with 30 business executives on citizen support for his proposed foreign aid program. The businessmen are representatives of the newly-formed Citizen's Committee for International Development.

The committee, headed by Warren Lee Pierson, chairman of the executive committee of Trans World Airlines, was organized to work for Kennedy's foreign aid proposals now pending in Congress.

President and Mrs. Kennedy attracted two big crowds to St. Francis Xavier Church in Hyannis Sunday. One crowd showed up for the Mass they were expected to attend, the other for the service they actually attended, an hour later.

The Kennedys spent the rest of the day taking it easy at their Hyannis Port home overlooking Nantucket Sound.

Saturday was the President's Hyannis Port work day. He spent nearly five hours discussing the problems of Germany and Berlin, and the situation in Southeast Asia, with three top advisors.

Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military representative, flew up from Washington for the talk.

The Cape Cod White House said the conference was wide ranging but was not of an emergency nature.

Axis Sally Ends 12-Year Prison Term

ALDERSON, W. Va. (AP) — Axis Sally obtains her freedom today, a graying wisp of the trim, silvery-blond woman she was when she entered the federal reformatory 12 years ago.

Sally, now 60 and whose real name is Mildred Gaillars, was paroled from a 10 to 30 year sentence for treason—a sentence handed her for propaganda broadcasts she made from Germany during World War II.

At her trial in Washington, D.C. in 1949 she blamed love for her troubles. Frustration played a part, too.

Born in Maine on Thanksgiving Day, 1900, she grew up dreaming of acclaim on the Broadway stage. She went to New York, took a Greenwich Village apartment and worked at her career.

But success never came, and she went abroad. North Africa, Italy, France, Hungary, then Germany. This was just before Hitler's troops started their march down what was to be a road to destruction.

It was in Dresden, Germany, that she met an officer in the German foreign service who had once been a teacher at Hunter College in New York City. She fell in love, she said.

Miss Gaillars testified at her trial that the man—the late Max Otto Koischwitz — convinced her she should make the broadcasts. She claimed he wrote and directed the scripts that she read over the radio.

Prison officials say Axis Sally now wants to teach music in a convent.

The Opposition Is a Dirty Name

Strongest clue so far to the political confusion in South Korea is the Moscow announcement that North Korea has been given a pledge of assistance if attacked.

This could explain the game of musical chairs being played by South Korean generals they are maneuvering for position.

It could explain why the latest regime of generals should be stressing Communist connections as the great sin of their predecessor. And it could explain why South Korea, which until lately had aspired to become a civilian-dominated country, now dares to hope only for a military dictatorship that won't be too harsh. Militarism may be on the march.

Americans have ceased to be concerned about the government of Korea, remarkably so in view of their huge investment of lives and treasure in protecting it from Communist invasion a decade ago. It is as if their decision had been made for them by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, who said this week in Manila that the Korean war was a "major disaster for the free world."

THE 81-YEAR-OLD soldier's active career was terminated by his irreconcilable difference of opinion with President Truman in 1951, when he insisted that Communist Chinese ports and air bases should be bombed. He believed then and still believes now that in war there is no substitute for victory.

Under any other conditions, he reasons, wars should not be fought. Many Americans, believing this to be true and knowing that the uneasy truce in the Korean truce is in North Korea's favor in the long term, decided long since that the Korean war will go into history as a delayed defeat for their country.

But a South Korean attack on North Korea would be a cataclysmic turnabout—as cataclysmic in Asia as a West German attack on East Germany would be in Europe. If that is not a possibility—if the military assistance pledged by the Kremlin is only international byplay—the shifting of power and the calling of names in South Korea means nothing but a kind of politics familiar to Americans.

IN THIS COUNTRY, too, a politician's first rule of competition is that his opponent must be a dirty name, preferably "Communist" if it can be made to stick. Under no circumstances must he be credited with sincerity.

It isn't surprising to learn that in a country which has a common border with a Communist satellite an unsettled war with Red China and an unsettled issue with Red Russia a new strong man can find nothing meaner to call a fading leader than "Communist," especially when the name-caller, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hi, once was accused of being a Communist himself.

Principle Worth the Candle

The net result of Republican efforts to pare Ohio's Democratic budget was a saving of $37 million under Gov. DiSalle's minimum demands and about twice that much compared with his maximum demands.

This is peanuts in a plus-$2-billion budget—about 1.8 per cent. At a time when families in Ohio are cutting spending costs to fit income cloth, a piddling saving of less than 2 per cent in a spending rate running a billion dollars a year does not seem cataclysmic.

It was the principle that was worth fighting for, not the money itself. And it is of the utmost importance that the principle should be understood while the matter is still fresh. It will be a public issue for a long time to come, not only in Ohio but in local government and the federal government.

It is the principle that the taxpayer public is entitled to protection against government spending and that this is one of the important functions of two-party government.

THE DEMOCRATIC party has adopted unlimited spending as a fixed policy.

The policy was summed up during the first New Deal in a remark attributed to the late Harry Hopkins, who was Franklin Roosevelt's mentor in social policy: "Spend and spend and elect and elect." Democratic spending is not only a way of life but a way of politics.

This danger was pointed out to the Founding Fathers and the first generation of Americans by critics who said the republic might be at the mercy of a profligate public that would dissipate its treasury by going on a spending spree of indefinite duration.

The danger has been referred to innumerable times by irresponsible politicians quoting the axiom that the formula for survival is to vote for all spending and against all taxing.

The practice can ruin the United States, and the most dangerous thing about it is its plausibility. More money always is needed; no doubt about that.

There is no point of satiety in public spending. Government always needs more buildings, more institutions, more highways, higher wages, larger salaries, better pensions for bureaucrats, stronger armies, bigger guns, faster planes, stronger rockets and so on ad infinitum. Its needs are innumerable.

But the needs of taxpayers are innumerable, too.

"TAXPAYERS ARE limited by their incomes. They cannot confiscate more money than they are entitled to without becoming thieves. They cannot run into debt they cannot pay without becoming bankrupts. They cannot behave irresponsibly without becoming inmates of asylums. They must cut the costs to fit the cloth.

Only government can arrogate to itself the right to say nothing is too good for it and that anything short of this is a disgrace to the taxpayers who produce the wherewithal.

Only government can dare to say that anyone who tells it to stop spending is insolent, reactionary, narrow-minded, shortsighted and regressive.

The proposition before Americans is whether they will find a voice to reply to government spokesmen who say this.

In Ohio the Republican majority in the General Assembly has told a Democratic administration it was asking for too much money and made it trim its requests, despite screams and wails that this would mark the end of progress for all time.

It was nonsense. But it's one of the few times in two-party history in recent years that one party has said point-blank to the other party, "It's nonsense." Even if saved only $37 million, the principle was worth the candle.

By H. I. Phillips

Once Over

For a reporter who has covered Washington for nearly 15 years, I have had the unique experience of suddenly returning to the capital after spending a month in remote areas of the Pacific almost completely out of touch with world events.

Traveling on a trawler through the Solomon Islands, I did not even know what was happening at the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks except for some indistinctly heard snatches of news broadcasts from Honiara, Guadalcanal.

This experience of descending on Washington somewhat like a man from Mars has been a disagreeable shock. It is appalling to discover how fully and soberly and deliberately—and universally—the possibility of war with the Soviet Union over Berlin this year is being accepted by high officials and by others who are keeping in touch with developments.

Looking back across years of successive crises over the Berlin airlift, Lebanon and Quemoy and Matsu, I cannot recall any time when the specter of Armageddon darkened the thoughts of responsible men the way it appears to be clouding them in Washington today.

AT THE FIRST GLANCE there are three ingredients, basically, that make up this pessimism.

One is the widespread feeling that little room is left for negotiation. The second is the conviction that the United States cannot back down without handing communism a victory which might be a turning-point in world history. The third is the fear that Premier Khrushchev won't back down, that Berlin, as he put it, is a "bone in our throat" and that he means to get rid of it.

Still, while a perilous showdown is regarded as inevitable, war is not regarded as inevitable.

There is hope that war can be averted somehow. A fervent hope it is, too, because it is difficult for realistic men here to see how fighting over Berlin could long be limited to non-nuclear weapons.

In Washington this is already a summer of desperate quest for a way to resolve the Berlin question without loss to American prestige and security.

Returning to the Capital one gets anew the sense of the enormous responsibility that rests upon President Kennedy, who has only just turned 44 and has been in office a mere 120 days. Perhaps no American president has ever had to face up to such difficult decisions as await him.

SUCH OPTIMISM as one finds does not flow easily. There is the theory, for example, that if the United States stands firm to the end, the Soviet Union will give ground because the last thing in the world the Kremlin wants is a nuclear war.

Also it is pointed out that the Russians have threatened before to sign a peace treaty with East Germany but still have not done so.

Perhaps, it is hoped, this is what will become of Mr. Khrushchev's latest pledge to sign a treaty by the end of the year.

Then, there is the feeling that the signing of a treaty need not of itself lead to war. The slottling would come only if and when East Germany should use force to block Allied access to West Berlin.

Even if there should be a treaty, the optimists observe, Premier Khrushchev might well in his own interest restrain his East German satellites from going too far in tampering with traffic into Berlin. In this way he could keep Berlin merely as a threat, turning the heat on and off the Allies in the future as he has in the past.

At this juncture, however, pessimism holds sway over optimism, and the world looked much more peaceful from the Solomon Islands than it looks from Washington just now.

Remote Controlled Rackets

While Victor Riesel is en route to the Middle East and other news centers of the world, some of the nation's top policy-making leaders have agreed to stand in for him. In today's dispatch the attorney general of the United States, Robert F. Kennedy described proposed steps to curb racketeering.

By ROBERT F. KENNEDY

In confidential files of the Department of Justice is a case of a well-known racketeer who received $5,000 a year from a large New York City trucking firm for doing nothing.

The firm owner insisted the man was hired to see that trucks made deliveries properly. But no one else had ever seen him working—or, indeed, had ever seen him. He was a phantom employee.

To the harm of his firm, his legitimate employees and the public, the owners of this trucking firm had surrendered.

Like many employers around the country faced with threats, or the lure of a soft contract settlement from a corrupt official manipulating an innocent union local, the employer had knuckled under to labor-management extortion.

BY KNUCKLING UNDER he eroded the integrity of his firm and increased its costs—costs passed in to the consumer in higher prices.

But then the employer got his chance to get out from under. He was called before a grand jury investigating labor-management extortion and asked about the racketeer "employee."

The employer's response? He took the Fifth Amendment.

He did so out of fear, not so much fear of retribution from the racketeer, but fear of the law. For if the employer had admitted paying extortion money, he might well have been putting his neck, as well as that of the racketeer, in a noose.

He might well have been admitting a violation of the Taft-Hartley law's ban on such payments.

There was nothing the Department of Justice could do. Although we felt sure we knew what was going on, we couldn't prove it in court. We had to have testimony from one of the principals.

Of course the racketeer wouldn't testify against himself. When the employer wouldn't testify either, our hands were tied.

And so extortion continues. Indications are that this kind of thing is increasing.

Yet this bitter dilemma can be eliminated. We do not have to sit back and watch this corruption expand. The solution lies in a measure we have included in the series of anti-crime bills we have recommended to Congress.

THIS MEASURE would apply when a labor-extortion victim appears before a grand jury. If, like the New York trucking executive, he claimed Constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, he could be compelled to testify—and be given immunity from any prosecution which might result, such as under the Taft-Hartley law.

Such immunity is not new. Similar provisions are included in the nation's internal security and narcotics laws.

As they help protect us from subversion and criminal drug traffic, so the immunity provisions of our proposed law would help protect us from internal corrosion.

Our "crime package" also seeks to attack that corrosion on other fronts. The most important is gambling, for gambling is the financial fountain from which most racketeering evils flow. It provides the kitty.

As I recently told the House Judiciary Committee, we estimate that gambling in the United States involves about 70,000 persons and a minimum gross volume of $7 billion annually.

OUR PROPOSED LAWS take on gambling—and through it, organized crime and racketeering is general—by hitting at its lines of supply and communication.

These laws include: A ban on the use of interstate communications for gambling, which would allow us to close the gambling switchboard, the heart of gambling in this country.

A ban on the interstate shipment of gambling machines. The gamblers have gotten around the Johnson Act of 1951 by changing the design of their machines. We think it's time for a major change in the design of that law.

A ban on the interstate shipment of other gambling materials, like numbers slips.

A ban on interstate travel in support of organized crime and racketeering business enterprises.

Increasingly, the rackets are being run by remote control by racketeers living in luxury far away. Through periodic trips or their control—and their fat bank accounts.

THESE LAWS would give up increased basis for assistance to local authorities faced with the job of fighting the rackets. These laws would be helpful to all law enforcement officers.

But laws alone are not the answer. The fight against crime is not just one to be waged by law enforcement officers, whether local or federal. It is a fight for all of us. And it is a constant fight.

Responsible leaders in every community must constantly keep their guard up if we are to stop the rackets.

And the rackets—whether they involve the gambler, the employer who offers bribes, or the union member who demands one—must be stopped.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Help! Urgent! Swimming season is in full swing and we need some ground rules for our teen-agers.

Our 15-year-old son left home yesterday in his swimming trunks, a knit shirt and a pair of sandals. He went to pick up his girl friend. She had on a bikini and a skimpy beach coat.

They left her house at noon, drove around a while, decided not to go swimming after all, and went back to her house to play records (still in swimming clothes.) I got this information from the girl's mother who is very sensible and as concerned as I am.

Now, Ann, what is the proper attire for teen-agers who are going swimming? We belong to a club which has a bathhouse but the kids don't want to "waste time" getting in and out of their suits. How about this? — TEXAS QUESTIONER

Dear Questioner: My reply is sure to stir up the young animals, but this problem exists not only in Texas, but everywhere.

Teens who don't want to "waste time" changing into swim suits should wear slacks and shirts over their swimming clothes. The return trip calls for a change, however, unless the kids are kooky enough to go home in wet suits.

Our sex-oriented culture presents enough stimulation without allowing teen-agers to drive around half naked. The fact that your son and his date decided not to go swimming after all speaks for itself. Certainly a bikini is no outfit for two hours of record playing.

Parents should get together and decide on the rules, then insist that the kids stick to them.

Mating Call

Dear Ann: I need an opinion from someone who doesn't know me. And you're elected.

I'm a moderately attractive career girl, 32 years of age, reasonably content and have always been accused of being "too fussy and too prudish" where men are concerned. The man I've been dating for the past seven months is 40, pleasant and wonderful company. Coincidentally, our vacations fall at exactly the same time and he jokingly suggested that we go on a trip together. The joking became serious and finally he said, "Why not?"

Now I'm thinking seriously of saying yes. We would take my car because it's in better shape than his and everything would be strictly respectable. We'd stop at the same hotels but have separate accommodations, naturally. We wouldn't lie about it, we'd tell everyone openly. I know we'd have a good time but I'm concerned about my good name. Advise? — KISMET

Dear Kismet: Which means more — the good time or the good name? The arrangement he suggests is unconventional and bound to cause plenty of chatter.

Incidentally, there's an old-fashioned custom that would make this trip just dandy. I wonder if he's heard of it. It's called marriage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Problem For U.N.

By PETER EDSON

Lively Debate Shapes Up Over Red China

Putting the question of Communist China's admission to the U.N. on the General Assembly agenda for debate this September can lead to one of the grandest ballups in the world organizations 15 years of frustrations.

When a new nation wants admission to the U.N., it submits a formal application. This signifies its willingness to abide by the obligations of the U.N. charter.

Communist China — having knowingly but not admittedly violated the charter by supporting the North Korean invasion of South Korea in 1951—doesn't want to come into the world organization in this way by the front door. So there never has been and probably never will be such an application for membership.

THE SIMPLE FACT of the matter is that the Chinese Communists don't want in the United Nations as long as the Nationalists Chinese government on Formosa sits in the world organization as representative of the Chinese people.

So the objective of Red China is to substitute itself for Nationalist China as the sole representative of the Chinese people. The Reds don't accept the "two-China" theory. Their reason for this is technical but understandable so far as gaining admission to the U.N. is concerned.

Article Four of the U.N. charter, specifies that admission shall be made by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council.

So if Red China tried to get into the U.N. the normal way, as a new member, it would first have to clear the Security Council. Nationalist China now sits on the Security Council as one of the four permanent members. It can therefore block the admission of Communist China by casting a veto against its application forever.

The Communist bloc countries therefore argue that seating Red China in the U.N. is not a question of membership, but a question of credentials. They want the China membership in the U.N.—including Security Council seat now held by the Nationalist Republic of China on Formosa — transferred by vote of China on the mainland.

THIS IS WHAT the debate will be all about if the question is placed on the agenda by a majority plus one of the countries present and voting in the General Assembly. Representatives of countries who are absent or who abstain from voting will not have their nations counted in the total vote.

In view of the uncertain positions of the neutral nations and the 25 African members, eight of whom actually recognize the Chinese Communist government, it is impossible to predict how the vote would go on a question of substituting Red China for Nationalist China as the Chinese charter member of the U.N.

If the question is ruled procedural, it will be decided by majority vote in the General Assembly. If it is ruled substantive, a two-thirds majority will be required.

FOR THE PAST TEN years the United States has been able to keep the question of Chinese membership off the U.N. General Assembly agenda. The record vote was 47 opposing, 27 favoring, seven abstaining in 1957. Last year the vote was down to 42 opposing, 34 favoring, 22 abstaining.

The Kennedy administration has made no official statement beyond President Kennedy's reply to a press conference question April 12. He said flatly, "the United States is going to meet its commitment to the people on Formosa." Then he added:

"But—and that we had no—cannot make a final judgement as to what the vote on the moratorium will be on the admission of Red China." This garbled sentence was later corrected to read, "We have not made a final judgement as to what the vote on the moratorium will be on the admission of Red China."

No One Listens

By TRUMAN TWILL

The only people who care what you did as a boy are other aging specimens who did the same things. And they are only pretending, because they will earn a chance to tell you what they did if they listen to what you did.

No one really cares. It would be better if all of us would keep our mouths shut about things they used to be in the dear, dead, golden days. But it never will happen, because we like to hear ourselves talk about things as we think they were before.

It gives us something to tie to when we get that "lost" feeling — the one where we wonder whither and why. By telling about things as they used to be we reassure ourselves that we know where we've been even if we don't know where we're going.

If you could make somebody listen, you'd tell them how all the summer days were bright when you were a boy and rain never fell in the daytime — just an endless stretch of beautiful weather that started before Memorial Day and lasted till after Thanksgiving.

You'd tell them how a kid used to know for certain he was supposed to work during summer vacation and always had a chance to pull down substantial pay on jobs that imposed heavy responsibility at an age when modern kids would be making mud pies.

You'd tell how you could have stuck with those jobs and made a career in lumber, refrigeration, truck gardening, counseling in summer camps, farming, construction and others you cannot recall offhand.

You'd tell about the way automobiles were when they built them out of heavy steel to last forever if necessary and how boys your age used to go hiking without prearranged schedules and eat when they got hungry, like hoboes.

You'd tell about lakes that froze solid and stayed that way all winter and hills that were a mile long and steep, so bobsleds would rumble down so fast they'd take your breath away.

You'd tell about football in its primitive form when the forward pass was a desperation maneuver used only in the closing minutes when your team was behind and had everything to gain and nothing to lose.

You'd tell how big and strong and brave and beautiful everybody used to be, making sure the photographic evidence to the contrary had been put out of sight in a safe place.

You'd talk about life as it was when men were men and steak was 22 cents a pound; when you could live it up for a day with a $5 bill; when comedians made you split your sides and the beauties of the day had to be looked at through colored glass, or anyway through a machine in the penny arcade.

You'd remember as though it were yesterday the feats and proportions of legendary characters, including yourself—great burly fellows who could lift tombstones and batter through stone walls.

But that's the trouble. It isn't yesterday.

No one cares about your impressions of yesterday. Everybody wants to know about tomorrow and how things are going to be if and when tomorrow comes.

All right, so how are things going to be? Only one thing is certain. For most of us, they never will compare favorably with the way things were yesterday. If somebody would listen, you'd tell them why. But on the other hand if all they want to do is tell you why, skip it. You won't listen.

So They Say

We are at the point where we will have to choose between unemployment and greater leisure. We are going to commit the forces of this union on the side of greater leisure.

—Walter Reuther, president of United Auto Workers, advocating shorter work week.

The overwhelming preponderance of testimony . . . shows that capital punishment is neither a deterrent to crime nor a preventive.

—Bishops of the Episcopal Church, condemning capital punishment.

Deaths and Funerals

Rev. Frederick Mohr

Funeral services were held Friday at Hopewell, Va., for Rev. Frederick Mohr, 74, a retired Methodist minister and father of Mrs. Carl Sommers of Salem, who died last Tuesday.

Rev. Mohr was a native of Ohio, where he was born Jan. 21, 1887, but he had resided in Hopewell since 1925. He had been a pastor of Methodist churches in Virginia and served as an instructor at Fort Lee after his retirement.

In addition to his wife, Marguerite, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Sommers, Mrs. Ross Baker of East Liverpool, formerly of Salem, and Mrs. Oscar Rideout of Hopewell; two sons, Carroll D. Mohr of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., formerly of Salem, and Frederick Allen Mohr, in the Navy at Philadelphia; two grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Fitzsimmons of Columbiana and Mrs. Mary Moore of East Palestine.

dressed in the national costume of one of the 15 Soviet republics. Another crowd-pleasing feature was a mass drop of 600 men with brightly colored parachutes.

Air Marshal Konstantin Verzhinin who directed the show said in an aviation day article in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda that many of the Soviet air force's jets have no equal in the world for speed, altitude and flight range.

$25, Candy Stolen At Concrete Firm

Approximately $20 to $25 in cash and $2.50 worth of candy was taken by thieves who broke into the Salem Concrete & Supply Co. sometime between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 7:15 a.m. Saturday, police report.

Police said entrance to the building was gained by forcing open a rear door.

The thieves broke into a soft drink machine and desk drawers. Jim Hicks, who reported the robbery, said a futile attempt was made to open a safe by chiseling off the dial.

Drunken Driver Gets Fine, Jail Sentence

Donald C. Cassler, 46, of Canton was fined $150 and given a three-day jail sentence by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer today for driving while intoxicated.

William Rosser, Jr., 21, of the Newgarden Rd., was fined $10 and costs on each count of intoxication, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Evan B. Wells, 42, of Canton, was fined $58 and costs for truck overload.

Girl, 5, Injured In Horse-Riding Mishap

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leggett of 355 W. Pershing St. have received word that their 5-year-old granddaughter, Janet, was seriously injured when a horse she was riding reared and fell on her.

She is confined to a hospital in Greenfield, Ind., with a crushed pelvis and possible internal injuries. She is the daughter of Rev. Omar and Mrs. Leggett, formerly of Salem and Damascus.

DOG BITE INCIDENTS

To cases of young boys being bitten by dogs were reported to police over the weekend.

Tommy Grimm of 207 Rose Ave. was delivering papers when he was bitten on the right thigh by a dog owned by Robert Roberts, 1194 E. 9th St. He was treated by a physician.

Ronnie Barnhouse of RD 3, Salem, was treated at City Hospital after he was bitten above the right eye by a dog owned by Mrs. Dorothy Kuntzman of 1733 N. Ellsworth Ave.

Matter of Fact

The cry, "Tar she blows!" is an echo of the past. A couple of dozen employees and five boats are all that remain of our once-great whaling industry. Petroleum largely ended American demand for whale oil. Metal and plastics replaced whalebone in corsets. But other countries still hunt the whale. Today's Captain Ahab is Japanese, not Yankee.

16 coup masterminded by Pak to unseat Premier John M. Chang, no relation, and put South Korea under military rule.

The junta spokesmen said Gen. Chang called on Gen. Carter B. Magruder, U.S. and U.N. commander at the time of the May coup, to use his American forces to block the 3,600 revolutionary troops.

Chang was also accused of turning Magruder against Pak by calling him unreliable.

The U.S. 8th Army declined to comment. Magruder retired June 30 and left for the United States the following day.

Explosion

renco Marquis with troops, laborers and military supplies for calls at northern ports in the sprawling East African colony.

Mozambique is largely under military control and Portugal has been pouring troops into the country to prevent a nationalist uprising like that raging in the sister colony of Angola.

One report from Lourenco Marques said about 200 Portuguese soldiers and 300 Africans were aboard the Save. But other reports said as many as 700 persons might have been aboard.

The transport ran into a storm off the mouth of the Linde River, 10 miles south of Quelimane on the coast of Mozambique. High winds and heavy seas blew the ship onto a sandbar within sight of the beach.

Radio messages received in Beira, port in central Mozambique 450 miles northeast of Lourenco Marques, said an explosion in the forward hold touched off a fire.

The flames raged out of control and a series of explosions—apparently among munitions aboard—followed.

A tug raced from Beira but could not get across the sandbar to reach the burning ship.

Portuguese military planes picked up many of the injured, however, and flew them to hospitals in Beira.

Difficult communications and censorship controls imposed by Portuguese authorities delayed word of the disaster getting out. Rule in Mozambique is largely in control of the military because of the restlessness of the natives. All reports on movements of troops are heavily censored.

Mrs. Charles Berger

Cristal Wolfgang Wed To Pfc. Charles Berger

Bride at a lovely pink and blue wedding Saturday afternoon at St. George's Catholic Church in Lisbon was Miss Christal Ann Wolfgang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Wolfgang of Lisbon RD, who was married to Pfc. Charles William Berger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearson of East Liverpool.

Rev. William Hohman, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with bouquets of roses and banked with ferns, palms and lighted tapers in candelabra.

Miss Mary Jo Klug was at the organ, and Miss Betty Lou McKenna was soloist. She sang "Ave Maria", "Beautiful Angel" and "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling," as the bride placed a bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She appeared in a slipper-length gown of embroidered tulle, styled with a basque bodice, long tapered sleeves and a circlet neckline accented with scattered sequins on embroidered roses. The bouffant skirt had a cascade back of tiers of tulle edged with scallops of lace.

Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a pearl studded crown. She carried a white Prayer Book topped with a white orchid, white roses and cascading satin streamers of stephanotis. In observing the tradition of something old, the bride wore an heirloom diamond and sapphire ring, left to her by a great aunt.

Mrs. Mary Lou Wolfgang, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She was gowned in a dusty pink nylon chiffon over taffeta, featuring a French picture collar, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her floral headdress of orchids in shade to match her gown and crystals and earrings, the gift of the bride, completed her attire. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations.

Bridesmaids, Miss Dixie Lee Carisise of Lisbon RD 5, cousin of the bride, and Miss Darlene Wolfgang of New Waterford were dressed identically to the matron of honor, except that they were in blue and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and roses.

Serving as junior bridesmaids were Sandra Berger of East Liverpool, sister of the bridegroom, and Nancy Spooner of RD, Lisbon, cousin of the bride, identically dressed as the bridesmaids.

Ernest Campbell served as the best man, and Clement J. Wolfgang, brother of the bride, ushered.

The mother of the bride chose a light blue linen dress with lace bodice and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a Sahara brown sheath dress with white accessories, and each complemented their ensembles with corsages of white carnations.

Grandparents of the couple present were Mrs. Catherine Gibson of Struthers, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolfgang of New Waterford,

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCowin and Mrs. Henry Pearson of East Liverpool.

The Elkton Parish Hall was the setting for the reception for 250 guests. The bride's table, laid in white linen, was centered with a four-tier wedding cake decorated with alternating pink and blue rosebuds and white swans separating the layers. Caught to white wedding bells above, blue and white streamers cascaded to the table. Bouquets of roses and daisies added to theme.

Serving were Mrs. James McLaughlin, Mrs. Kenneth Shearer, Miss Carol Simpson and Miss Ginger Beck.

Mrs. Walter Lipp, aunt of the bride, registered guests from Vandergrift and Georgetown, Pa., Cumberland, Md., Covina, Calif., Fort Worth, Texas, Youngstown, Akron, Struthers, East Liverpool, Salem and Lisbon.

Mrs. Berger is a graduate of Beaver Local High School and was employed at the Round Corner clothing store in Lisbon. Her husband attended East Liverpool High and is serving in the Army at Fort Campbell, Ky., having returned from service in Korea.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will return to the bride's home for the remainder of his leave, after which he will return to camp. His wife will join him later.

For traveling, the bride wore an aqua and white sheath dress and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Members of the wedding party were feted Friday evening with dinner preceding the rehearsal at the home of Mrs. McLaughlin of RD Lisbon, with Mrs. McLaughlin, the bride's mother, Mrs. Peter Chestnut and Mrs. Catherine Gibson as the hostesses. The attendants were remembered with gifts.

Cleveland Drops Doubleheader to Chicago 7-5, 9-8

Losses Tumble Tribe to Fourth

Kirkland Hits Three Homers In 2nd Game; Tribe Blows Lead Both Tilts

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I hope we'll get off to a fresh start," said Cleveland Manager Jimmie Dykes as he and the Indians started a three-day break for the All-Star game. "Woodie Held should be all right by then, and I hope to get back to the set lineup," said Dykes. "Gary Bell's shoulder should be in shape and everybody should be feeling good after the rest."

Tribe 8½ Back of Tigers

Everybody was feeling low after Sunday's double setback to the Chicago White Sox, 7-5 and 9-8. It dropped Cleveland into fourth place, 8½ games behind league-leading Detroit.

In the first game, the Indians blew a 5-2 lead going into the ninth inning. The crowning blow was a grand slam home run with two out by Sherm Lollar off relief ace Frank Funk.

In the second game, three home runs by Willie Kirkland, No. 12, 13 and 14, went to waste as the Indians frittered away a 3-0 lead, dropped behind 9-4 and failed with a last-ditch rally.

Jim Perry took the second game loss, giving him a 7-7 mark. Some sloppy playing—a dropped fly ball by Kirkland which led to two unearned runs and a mental miscue by Perry—cost the Tribe the ball game.

Cal McLish was the second game victor, thanks to a clutch relief performance by Turk Lown, who got Vic Power to rap into a bases-loaded, game-ending double play.

Perry's boner came in the fifth inning when the Sox tallied five runs on five hits, one of them Al Smith's 20th homer. With runners on second and third and one out, Floyd Robinson bounced back to the mound. Perry whirled and threw to second base, apparently thinking he could get a force there. One run scored and the other runner advanced to third.

The Indians poured across four runs in the seventh off McLish and Frank Baumann, before Lown halted the uprising. A double by Power and singles by Mike de la Hoz, Don Dillard, Jim Piersall and Bubba Phillips produced the four markers.

Lown In Hot Water

Cleveland put Lown in hot water in the ninth when Tito Francona singled and Phillips laid down a bunt, on which Lown threw too late to get the force at second. Up came Willie Kirkland, with a chance to become the 10th man in diamond history to belt four homers in a game.

But Dykes flashed a bunt sign to Willie and Kirkland did his job. John Romano was purposely passed to load the sacks with one out. Then Lown fed Power the double play ball.

Phillips drove in three runs in the first game—two with his 13th homer—and one more in the nightcap as he pushed his average up to .285 and his RBI total to 51—tops on the club.

Swim Team Meeting Set For Tuesday

An organizational meeting and initial practice will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Centennial Park Pool for all those interested in becoming members of a swimming team that is being formed under the direction of Tom Dahms, a lifeguard at the pool.

The team is being organized to give the youth of Salem a chance to compete in swimming. Any boy or girl between the ages of 12 and 19 is invited to come to the pool for the practice.

Dahms said that two meets with Columbiana and two with Alliance swimming aggregations already are scheduled and possibly a triangular meet will be held.

The meets will be conducted according to regulation high school swimming meet distances.

Any swimming team in the area that is interested in competing against the Salem team is urged to contact Dahms at the Centennial Park Pool or call ED 7-3191.

TENNIS CHAMP — Rod Laver of Australia defeated Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., to win the Wimbledon men's singles tennis championship in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1 and 6-4.

Old Dutch Falls Into Tie for First In 'AA'; Mile Branch Moves Up

Lincoln Machine's Judge Guiler Pitches No-Hitter In Class A

Judge Guiler threw a no-hitter against Old Dutch to pace the Lincoln Machine nine to an 8-0 win as the Class A league leaders continued on the winning trail. Lincoln also blanked Theron's IGA, 4-0 in two of 10 softball games played at Kelley Park over the weekend.

In other battles played Mile Branch climbed into a second place tie with the Italian Club in Class A with wins over the Spartans, 12-4 and Old Dutch, 6-5, while in Class AA Shaffer Ford handed Old Dutch a 5-3 defeat to knock the league leaders into a tie for the top spot with idle Stepanic's Tavern.

Herron Transfer fell 4-1 to Deming's and Industrial Mining was upended by Herron's 13-9 in Class AA; Sheely Furniture & Appliance blanked Bliss, 3-0; the Spartans edged Sheely's, 4-2, and the Alliance Amvets smashed Bliss, 10-2 in Class A games.

GUILER WAS IN complete control of the game as he paced the Class A league leaders to their ninth win in a row and 14th out of 17 encounters. Guiler fanned six Old Dutch batters and walked five.

Bill Pauline featured for Lincoln in the hitting department, rapping three hits in four trips, including a homerun and two singles. Bill Crookston socked a triple for the winners.

In the Lincoln win over Theron's, Shaffer was the big man with the stick with a double and two singles. He was followed by Bill Odorizzi, Crookston and Tom Ehrhart with two safeties each.

Ehrhart was the winning hurler giving up four singles to four different Theron's batters.

Mile Branch moved into a deadlock with the Italian Club, both with 11-5 marks, for second place in Class A with its two wins over the weekend.

Leading the Mile Branch attack against the Spartans was Schwartz with a double and two singles. K. Cranston and Ramsey blasted two hits each for the winners. D. Ramsey rapped a triple for Mile Branch.

Patterson's Promoter Blasts NBA

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Bolan, promoter of Floyd Patterson's proposed fall heavyweight title defense against Boston's Tom McNeeley, charged today the National Boxing Association's ratings are "assinine" and said Patterson "is not going to lose (his title) to a bunch of armchair schemers."

Bolan replied in a lengthy statement to the NBA threat last week to strip Patterson of his championship unless he signed within a reasonable time for a defense against a fighter listed in the top six by the NBA.

McNeeley, unbeaten in 23 bouts, is not ranked by the NBA. Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., has said he hopes to announce a date for the Patterson-McNeeley bout some time this week. The fight tentatively is listed for September in Boston. Bolan has applied for a matchmaker's license in Massachusetts to be able to promote the fight.

"The NBA," Bolan said, "has continuously attempted to downgrade Patterson, and last week's feeble blast regarding McNeeley is another bid to steal the title from a man who won't bow to their ridiculous rules."

"Patterson is the only man in ring history to regain the heavyweight title and he is not going to lose it to a bunch of armchair schemers. A fighter should be rated only on his achievements in the ring and not by his connections with the NBA."

"McNeeley's unbeaten record in 23 bouts, including 18 knockouts," Bolan claimed "is far more impressive than most of those ranked by the NBA as top challengers."

Pitching—Frank Lary, Tigers, shut out Los Angeles Angels on three singles, striking out 10 while ending their home run streak at 16 games, in first game of 1-0 and 6-3 sweep that put Detroit back in first place.

Hitting—Frank Robinson, Reds, dusted himself off after being knocked down and hit by pitches and collected seven RBI on two homers, a double and a triple in 14-3 romp against second-place Dodgers.

Billy Stacy, rookie safetyman for the St. Louis Cardinals' football team last season, is hoping to play as an offensive halfback this fall.

Bucs Win Third In Row; Yanks Split

Reds Clobber LA; Tigers Regain First

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson was knocked down twice and hit on the arm by Los Angeles right-hander Don Drysdale, but clubbed a pair of homers, a double and a single for seven runs batted in as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the second place Dodgers 14-3 Sunday and regained a five-game bulge in the National League race.

Third place Pittsburgh made it three straight over Milwaukee, by beating the Braves 5-4. San Francisco split a pair with St. Louis, the Giants losing 6-3, in the opener, before beating the Cards 6-1. The Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 9-8 and 8-5.

Yanks Split With Boston

In the American, Detroit took two from Los Angeles, 1-0 and 6-3, and regained first place by one percentage point over New York. The Yankees split with Boston, winning 3-0 before losing 9-6. Baltimore thumped Kansas City 8-0 the Chicago White Sox swept Cleveland 7-5 and 9-8, and Minnesota defeated Washington 7-1.

Robinson hit the first of his homers against the Dodgers in the first inning off loser Roger Craig. His run-in with Drysdale came in the sixth, and he then tagged Dick Farrell for his second homer, in the eighth inning. Gene Freese also homered while right-hander Joey Jay (12-4) checked the Dodgers on five hits, two of them home runs by John Roseboro and Charlie Neal.

A pair of homers by Walt Moryn drove in the Pirates' first three runs against Lew Burdette (9-6). Al McBean (2-4) was the winner in relief.

The Cards wiped out a 3-1 lead by the Giants and won the opener on a two-run homer in the eighth by Ken Boyer. But the Giants bounced back behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Sanford (4-5) and reliever Sam Jones in the nightcap. Lindy McDaniel (5-3) won the opener and Juan Marichal (6-7) lost it, both in relief.

The Cubs overcame seven errors with 28 hits in their sweep over the last place Phils: Ed Bouchee, hit two home runs and Al Heist one backing Glen Hobbie (6-9) in the opener and reliever Dick Ellsworth (4-6) in the second game. Art Mahaffey (7-10) and Chris Short (2-6) were the losers.

Palmer Wants British Open Championship

By RONALD THOMSON

BIRKDALE, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer sets out today to become the first American to win the British Open golf championship since Ben Hogan captured it in classic style at Carnoustie, Scotland, eight years ago.

The hard-hitting, easy-going Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., battling South Africa's Gary Player for the money-winning title on the American circuit, admitted: "This is a championship I want to win—sometime."

"But I'm not satisfied with my woods at the moment. All keyed to go? Well, I hope so."

Palmer, 1960 U.S. Open and Masters champion, has made a detailed analysis of the tricky holes on the 6,884-yard, par 72 Royal Birkdale course that could keep him from the championship.

The sixth—a 468-yard affair set among the sand dunes and gorse bushes—is a tedious hole, Palmer said.

"You've got to be very careful. There's a cross bunker and you've got to lay off from the tee. The second is very exacting too. It's a blind shot because of the mounds blocking the green."

Palmer, rated the 5-2 favorite, pointed out: "This is a flat seaside course with no hills and no trees. The lack of trees makes judging distance difficult. Anybody who overhoothes the greens is going to be in trouble."

Fifteen Americans are entered. Palmer is the only one given a serious chance of winning the title, which was first competed for 101 years ago. Player is the second choice. Defending champion Kel Nagle, who beat Palmer by one stroke last year, also is well liked.

No less than 369 golfers from 19 countries are entered for the two 18-hole qualifying rounds today and Tuesday. The low 120 scorers advance to the 72-hole medal play championship with 18 holes Wednesday and Thursday and the final 36 on Friday.

Don January Cops St. Paul Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Don January, the man who scored the $50,000 ace at Palm Springs, Calif., early this season, had his first golf tournament victory of the season today.

The lean Texan from Dallas shot an 8-under-par 64 on his final round Sunday for a 19-under-par 269 to win the $30,000 St. Paul Open and $4,300.

January started the day four shots behind Buster Cupit, the club pro from Fort Smith, Ark., who was second with 270. Dave Hill of Denver finished third with 272.

January pulled away from the field in the middle holes, where he rapped in four birdies and chipped in for another from the 9th through the 15th.

A number of the bonus players signed this spring will appear on major league rosters next winter, unless the unrestricted draft of first-year players is changed.

BLIND FOR 43 YEARS...

SHE SEES AGAIN! Mrs. Violette Nider, 50, a refugee from Yugoslavia, regained her sight last year... after being blind for 43 years! At a camp near Naples, she was examined and found operable. A month later in a Geneva Hospital, she could see completely from one eye, partially from the other. The miracle of sight had been restored!

The happy outcome was a direct result of Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. While this case is Catholic—all three faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—maintain far-reaching programs that provide basic foods, clothing, shelter, jobs, education, tools and equipment—to the millions in need overseas.

Mrs. Nider's case is dramatic. A glass of milk for a hungry child can be dramatic, too! These programs must continue. They offer the only hope to millions. When you are asked to support your faith's Overseas Aid Program, remember "blind" Mrs. Nider. Give generously!

Salem Stops Leetonia Rally To Win 15-14

The Salem Merchants held off a nine-run rally in the ninth inning to edge Leetonia, 15-14 in a County City Baseball League game played at Leetonia Sunday.

The Merchants had a 15-5 lead going into the last of the ninth but six hits off of Salem pitcher Dick Loudon produced nine runs and almost took the win away from the locals.

Mercure was the big man in the ninth inning with a triple and a double. W. Rutsky and Haberg rapped doubles for the losers in the wild ninth.

Chuck Wilson socked a grand slam homer for Salem in the third inning to produce the big blow in the locals attack. Ed Daugherty and Don Wukotich paced the Salem hitting department with three singles apiece. Ken McArthur went two-for-two at the plate for the Merchants.

Wilson, Bob Morlan and Tony Everett lined two hits each for Salem.

Harberger and Mercure led the Leetonia attack with three hits each. Macry, W. Rutsky, Batcha and Whittington lined two safeties each for the losers.

Salem is now 4-2 in second round play and 9-7 overall. Leetonia is 0-4 in second round action and sports a 1-13 mark for the season.

In other league action league-leading East Liverpool copped its sixth straight in second round play by clobbering Columbiana, 24-16 and East Palestine scored a 15-3 victory over Negley.

Representatives Make Drawings for Hot Stove Tourney

Representatives from 40 teams were present at the Memorial Bldg. Sunday at the pre-tournament meeting to make drawings for the Hot Stove tourney to be held here July 21, 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30.

Teams from Alliance, Columbiana, Carroll County, Leetonia, Sebring, Hanoverston and Salem were represented.

A total of 63 teams are entered in the Salem sectional and are broken down into the following classifications: Class D, six teams; Class E, 12 teams; Class F, 19 teams; Class G, 16 teams, and Class H, 10 teams. Games will be played at Centennial Park, Memorial Park, Reilly and Prospect Fields.

A list of the pairings will be announced as soon as all the teams entered in the tourney are known. Several champions from each city have not been determined as of yet.

Frisco Ready For All-Star Tilt Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National League was cheered today by the news that Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee's hard hitting third baseman, would be available for duty against the American League in Tuesday's 30th All-Star game, second in California and first in San Francisco.

Mathews Set For Game
It was feared that Mathews, the senior circuit's premier southpaw slugger, might be forced to pass up the spectacle because of a knee injury sustained in a collision with Los Angeles' Daryl Spencer last week. The big Californian returned to the Braves' lineup Sunday and assured NL Manager Danny Murtaugh he would be ready to play.

A capacity crowd of more than 42,000 was expected to attend the first of this year's two All-Star games, which will be televised nationally. The second game will be played July 31 in Boston.

San Francisco fans were awaiting their first look at the American League sluggers, especially Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, the New York Yankees' home run twins.

It is mainly because of Maris (33 home runs), Mantle (29), and Detroit's Rocky Colavito (22) and Norm Cash (24), and the virtual certainty that Whitey Ford, New York's brilliant southpaw, will pitch the first three innings, that the American League has been made a 6 to 5 favorite. The AL was soundly beaten in both games last year and lost nine of the last 13 although it holds an over-all 16-13 edge.

Hippely, Welling Place At Canfield Speedway

Rabbi Hippely placed third in his heat in the late model division at the Canfield Speedway Saturday. Hippely also captured fourth in the late model pursuit.

Merle Welling of Salem pulled down fifth place in the amateur pursuit. Dick Shasteen and Gene Secrest, both of Salem, failed to win or place in the amateur events.

The racing club has decided to hold their races Sunday evenings instead of in the afternoons because of the heat. They are installing more lights around the track. If you care to watch these races, there is no charge — Lots of parking behind the Country Store!

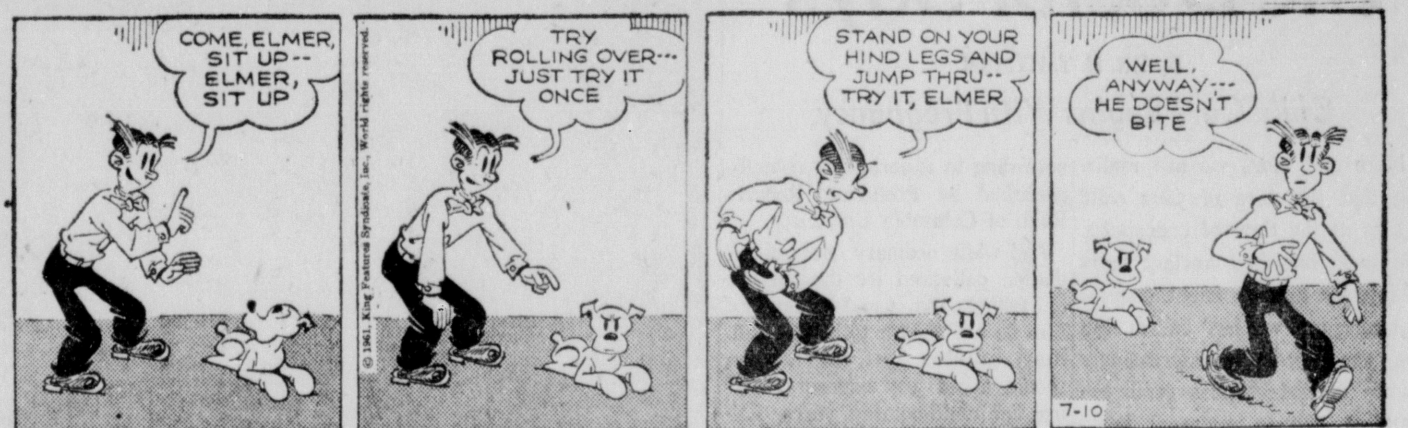

Questions—Answers

Q—Has the secretary of defense ever been a military man?
A—Yes, Gen. George Marshall in 1950.
Q—Why is it believed Samuel Pepys intended his famous diary only for his own enjoyment?
A—It was written in a private code—a mixture of shorthand, foreign languages, and some characters of Pepys' own invention. John Smith translated the six-volume work.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Child Care Begins With Pregnancy

More and more we are realizing that the care of your child begins at the time of conception. We have banished ancient fears of injuries through fright, bumps, lightning and witches' curses. But we are becoming increasingly aware of disturbances (embryopathies) due to maternal infections, such as German measles, blood incompatibilities (Rh factors) and undue exposures to radiation.

Now, in regard to the growing list of embryopathies, it is obvious that our principal efforts should be directed to prevent them. And in the field of prevention, the principal guardians of the growing embryo should and must be the prospective parents.

Thus a principal responsibility of the medical profession, in general, and of a medical columnist, in particular, is that of providing information and instruction for those prospective parents who seek to fulfill their obligations conscientiously.

Before I enter into detail, however, I must warn you that measures for preventive medicine must inevitably arouse some fears. The same is true of campaigns directed against drunken driving, jaywalking or nuclear warfare. Hence what I am about to write of the possible relationship between exposure to radiation and the growing incidence of childhood leukemia should be coolly considered and not cause panic.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

The incidence of childhood leukemia is increasing at an alarming rate. Indeed, in a Midwest community, a "cluster" of cases has roused local health authorities to inquire into the possibility of some environmental cause.

The incidence of leukemia and of other malignancies was estimated to be four times more frequent in those survivors of the Hiroshima bombing who were within 1,000 meters of the exposure center.

During the earliest embryonic phase, the individual is more sensitive to radiation than he will ever be again throughout his life.

according to experiments recently published by Professor Roberts Rugh of Columbia University.

And while ordinary doses of radiation delivered for the purpose of taking the usual diagnostic film do not appear to be harmful, Rugh cautions that the woman should avoid any exposure, during her child-bearing years, EXCEPT during the first nine days following the onset of menstruation. That is to say, before the egg ripens and hence before it can possibly be fertilized.

Now you will note in the previous paragraph the words "ordinary doses of radiation." And this refers, of course, to the measured amount of radiation required for diagnostic filming. But now comes a report from the New York City Department of Health showing that unnecessary over-exposure to radiation was discovered in 92 per cent of diagnostic X-ray and fluoroscopic machines as a result of faulty operation or inadequate protective equipment.

In another of these columns I'll continue this discussion.

Schools Receive Bulk of Revenue From Tax Sources

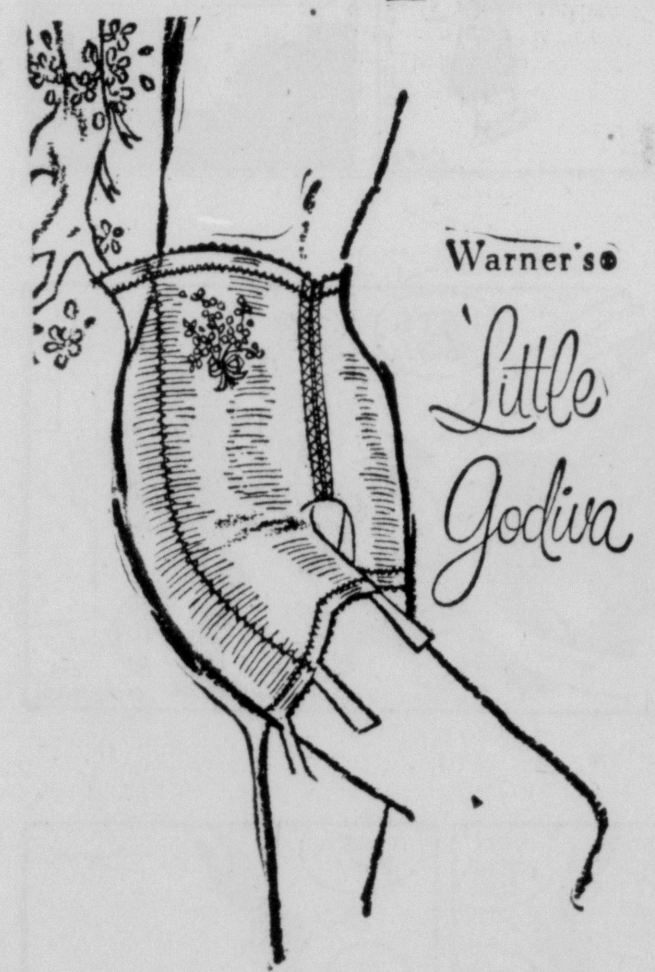

More than half of all the taxes collected at county court houses in Ohio last year went to schools, according to reports filed with State Auditor James A. Rhodes by county auditors.

In Columbiana County, for example, of the $6,624,141 collected, $4,424,913 was distributed to school districts. This was approximately two-thirds of the total. Statewide, schools received $522 million out of the $907 million in local taxes distributed. This was 57 1/2 per cent of the total.

Besides the distribution to schools, the remainder of the $6,624,141 collected in Columbiana County was distributed as follows: municipalities, $886,616; county government, $678,943; townships, $324,209; public libraries, $180,600; and state of Ohio, $128,859.

The state's share from all the county's amounted to $21.79 million. This came from the state's one-half share of inheritance and estate taxes and the levy to retire World War 2 and Korean Conflict compensation bonds.

Lisbon Social

By ESTHER DETEMPLE

Miss Twylla Quarterman, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts of Maple St., became the bride of James DeBray Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James DeBray of Hanoverton, at a 7 o'clock wedding Saturday evening in the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Lisbon.

The Rev. William Brown, pastor, officiated at the single ring ceremony before members of the immediate families. White candles burned at either side of the chapel cross.

The bride chose a light blue and white print dress, with white accessories and hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Her foster sister, Miss Harolen Knight, served as the maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a light blue sheath dress with white accessories.

Fred Clapsaddle of Salem was the best man.

Mrs. Roberts wore a green and white silk dress and Mrs. DeBray a pink dress with lace jacket and both completed their ensembles with white accessories.

A reception was held at the bride's home for the wedding party and friends. The table featured a three-tier wedding cake decorated with pastel pink roses and green leaves around the base and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and white candles in crystal holders. Summer bouquets were throughout the home.

Misses Gloria and Jean Roberts and Linda Lisk, cousins, served.

Both Mr. and Mrs. DeBray are graduates of Lisbon David Anderson High School, she with this year's class and he with the class of 1958. He is employed in Hanoverton.

The couple are residing in an apartment on N. Market St. here.

MEMBERS OF the Mercedi Club and their husbands enjoyed a social evening with supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kessler on Fairfield Rd. The club will hold another get-together in August at the Guilford Lake cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leggett.

Inheritance Taxes Show County Decline

In spite of a substantial decrease in receipts in Columbiana County, inheritance taxes in Ohio showed an unheard of jump last year as total collections increased more than $5 million to an all-time high of $23,196,018, according to figures released by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. The previous record was $18,105,683 in 1959.

Columbiana County collected $117,091 in inheritance taxes last year, compared to $165,547 in 1959.

Gina Snubs Nikita For Want Of A Bath

MOSCOW (AP) — Gina Lollobrigida says she meant no snub by walking out on Premier Khrushchev at the opening of the Moscow Film Festival. She just wanted to take a bath.

But the Soviet leader and other Communist bigwigs stared as the Italian film star stalked out of Moscow's Lenin Stadium Sunday night just when the show was warming up.

Gina, who had been rushed to the stadium direct from the airport, said the whole thing apparently was a misunderstanding.

"I wasn't angry, just upset," she told reporters later in her hotel room (after taking a bath). "I was very sure they would understand when I left."

As for Khrushchev, Gina said: "I had the pleasure to see Khrushchev. This is something exciting, even from far away." Though one of the top foreign attractions here for the festival, Gina had only a third-row seat in the audience.

Gina looked lovely—but hardly dressed like glamorous actresses usually do for gala public appearances. She wore a tall blue straw hat and two-piece blue traveling suit.

In her own words, "I looked like a gypsy." American film producer William Perlberg, who sat nearby, said she was "sore as hell" about not being given a chance to take a bath, make up or change her clothes before being taken to the festival.

883 Cases Await Court Disposition

LISBON — Columbiana County Common Pleas Court had 883 cases pending as of June 30, according to a monthly summary prepared for the State Supreme Court by Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

Entering June with 802 cases pending, the courts disposed of 53 cases but 84 new actions were filed during the month.

Of the dispositions, 21 cases were tried to court and four to juries. Ten cases were cognovit and default judgments and 18 were settled or dismissed.

Two traffic point system cases were filed during June and one case was terminated.

Six county cases are pending in Seventh District Court of Appeals.

Civil Service Status Bill Gets Senate OK

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Senate has completed legislative action on a bill to grant permanent civil service status to about 4,000 state employees who have been on their jobs for at least four years.

Sponsored by Rep. J. Warren Bettis (R) of Columbiana County, the measure also would revise technical procedures on examinations, certifications, and other civil service regulations.

It would give the director of state personnel more latitude in setting probationary periods for new employees, ranging between 60 days and one year.

In event of tie grades on open competitive exams, veterans would be given preference over non-veterans. Tie grades on promotional exams would be decided on the basis of seniority.
